Mayor J. William Reynolds

55th Annual Conference of the Pennsylvania State Mayors' Association
Bethlehem, Pennsylvania

Dear Fellow Mayors and Friends,

On behalf of the residents of Bethlehem, it is my pleasure to welcome you to our city for the Pennsylvania State Mayors' Association Conference.

We are especially honored to host you in a community that shares a longstanding connection with your organization. In fact, Bethlehem was the site of the Association's conference in 2015, when municipal leaders from across the Commonwealth gathered at this historic Hotel Bethlehem to strengthen relationships, exchange ideas, and advance the shared work of local government. More than a decade later, it is fitting that we once again come together in Bethlehem to celebrate that spirit of collaboration and public service.

Bethlehem is a city that values both its history and its future. From our roots as a Moravian settlement and industrial powerhouse to our emergence as a nationally recognized center for arts, culture, education, and innovation, our community has been shaped by people who believe in building opportunity through partnership. That same commitment is reflected in the work of mayors throughout Pennsylvania as we address the challenges and opportunities facing our communities.

As a father, former educator, and public servant, I understand the importance of local leadership and the responsibility we share to improve the quality of life for our residents. Before serving as Mayor, I had the privilege of representing Bethlehem on City Council, including serving as Council President. Those experiences reinforced my belief that progress happens when local leaders listen, collaborate, and remain focused on the people they serve.

During your time here, I encourage you to explore Bethlehem's historic neighborhoods, vibrant downtown districts, award-winning arts and cultural attractions, and welcoming local businesses. I hope you will find opportunities not only to learn from one another, but also to experience the hospitality and community spirit that make Bethlehem such a special place.

Thank you for your dedication to public service and for the important work you do on behalf of Pennsylvania's cities and boroughs. We are honored to host you and wish you a productive, inspiring, and enjoyable conference.

Sincerely,

J. William Reynolds
Mayor, City of Bethlehem

Greetings Fellow Mayors,

A little more than 250 years ago on a bridge in Lexington, Massachusetts, a shot was fired that was "heard 'round the world." The American Revolution had begun, not by professional soldiers or well-known governors, senators or representatives, but by ordinary citizens led by local public officials just like us. What they were seeking was freedom from tyranny and the right to decide their form of government. Over a year later, their quest for freedom and self-government would be expressed eloquently in the words of the Declaration of Independence.

Today, we find ourselves at a time when government dysfunction at the national level and polarization throughout our country cry out for local leadership to demonstrate by example what "good government" means. Collaboration, compromise, mutual respect, finding common ground, pursuing the public good – these are the hallmarks of a healthy democracy. The Pennsylvania State Mayors' Association believes that there are no municipal officials in a better position to assume this role than borough, city, town and home rule township mayors.

The theme of this year's conference will be to prepare you for this vital role. You will be given tools to better communicate with the public through a digital mayor's office and a "state of the municipality" report. An important part of connecting with the public is understanding how to engage with today's youth as well as how to bring together polarized members of our communities. Persons in crisis, victims of commercial and human trafficking, and individuals suffering from man-made and natural disasters will require our special assistance. As leaders, we must always be aware of legal and legislative developments. New mayors will receive extra support through the preconference workshop.

Please take advantage of all that the annual conference has to offer and return to your communities with the settled purpose of making an exemplary difference in the lives of your residents and business owners.

Sincerely,

Jim Nowalk
President

History

THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE MAYORS' ASSOCIATION 55 Years of Dedicated Service to Pennsylvania's Mayors

History

The Pennsylvania State Mayors' Association (PSMA) was founded by 5 Mayors and their supporters, who conceived of an association that would have no formal affiliation with any other municipal organization and would represent, educate, and advocate for all Mayors. It was to be an organization of Mayors, by Mayors, and for Mayors. On January 22, 1971, the PSMA was incorporated as a nonprofit corporation. The PSMA has always operated pursuant to written Bylaws that have been revised a number of times over the years to meet the evolving needs of the Association. Because membership in the PSMA is open to all Mayors regardless of whether they are from a borough, city, incorporated town, or home rule township, the PSMA has grown to be the largest organization of Mayors in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Purposes

The purposes of the PSMA are:

- To secure closer official and personal relationships among all Mayors of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania;
- To secure unity of action in matters pertaining to Mayors and their duties;
- To exchange information among Mayors so that they can give better service to the municipalities that they represent;
- To work for closer cooperation with all other associations interested in local government, whether they be county, state or federal;
- To preserve, promote and protect the rights of the office of Mayor in all facets of municipal government; and
- To actively engage in promoting progressive legislation to support programs that will be beneficial to all members of the Association.

Governance

The PSMA is governed by a 22-member Executive Board composed of Mayors from every region of Pennsylvania. The composition of the Executive Board is determined initially by the PSMA members and then by the officers whom the members elect. In July of even-numbered years, the members elect officers at the annual conference.

History

The officers consist of a President, 6 Regional Vice Presidents, Treasurer, Secretary and Past President. These 10 officers then appoint, at an organizational meeting, the remaining members of the Executive Board from a slate of appointees proposed by the President.

Standing Committees

The PSMA has seven standing committees with specific charges: Audit, Bylaws, Conference, Mayor of the Year, Membership, Nominating, and Resolutions. The Audit Committee examines the income and expense statements, other financial and legal documents and the records of the Association and then issues a report to the members attending the annual conference on the financial status of the Association. The Bylaws Committee reviews annually, and updates as necessary, the articles and sections of the Bylaws of the Association. The Conference Committee assists the President in developing programs and any awards or recognition and in making the physical arrangements for the annual conference. The Membership Committee coordinates with the Regional Vice Presidents to increase membership in the association and to develop means by which attendance at the annual conference is increased, The Mayor of the Year Committee selects one Mayor to be honored as the Association's "Mayor of the Year." In even-numbered years, the Nominating Committee recruits Mayors for the 9 offices of the Association and nominates the recruits to be candidates for election by the members at the annual conference. The Resolutions Committee coordinates the policy-making activities of the Association by reviewing and introducing for discussion, debate, and adoption or rejection various resolutions, which directly or indirectly affect the office and role of Mayors.

Ad Hoc Committees

Subject to the approval of the Executive Board, the President may establish additional ad hoc committees as necessary to carry out the policies and programs of, or to further the purpose of, the Association. For instance, in 2009, the PSMA created the Ad Hoc Committee to Update the Office of Borough Mayor, which was charged with the task of reviewing the Borough Code and proposing changes that would modernize the Office of Mayor. With the passage of Act 43 of 2012, the Act that revises the Borough Code, the work of the Committee was complete. Notably, a number of the Committee's proposals were incorporated into Act 43.

Operations

From its inception, the PSMA has maintained its state headquarters in Bethel Park, Allegheny County, the Pennsylvania County which has the largest number of Mayors.

History

Staffed with an office manager and guided by a former Mayor whose title is Executive Director, the PSMA headquarters exists to meet the day-to-day needs of Mayors throughout Pennsylvania. It is the site of records and resources which have been accumulating over the 55 years of the PSMA's existence. When a Mayor asks a question of a legal nature, the PSMA calls upon the services of its solicitors, the CGA Law Firm.

Lobbying for Legislative Changes

Because of the size and breadth of its membership as well as the fact that it is not affiliated with any other municipal organizations, the PSMA is in an excellent position to lobby for legislative changes to benefit Mayors and the issues which concern them. It was the PSMA which sponsored the bill that now gives borough Mayors the right to speak at council meetings. For many years, the PSMA caused a bill to be introduced into the General Assembly which would enable a borough Mayor to receive money for performing weddings and increase the amount of reimbursement for attorneys' fees to $4,000.00, whenever a Mayor is forced to retain outside counsel. On May 17, 2012, the language of those previous bills became law when Governor Corbett approved House Bill 1702, now known as Act 43 of 2012, amending the Borough Code. Twice, the PSMA sent representatives to Harrisburg to advocate for other provisions that were incorporated into the Bill.

The PSMA is advocating for city Mayors as well. When changes were proposed to the Third Class City Code in the 2015-2016 session of the General Assembly, the PSMA made certain that city Mayors were aware of those changes and offered to host a conference call among city Mayors to discuss the proposed changes. Additionally, many city Mayors favor expanding the opportunity that only some cities enjoy of levying a tax on hotel occupants in their municipalities. The PSMA has supported this initiative by retaining the services of law students from Duquesne University School of Law. Their report to the PSMA's Executive Board on the legality and efficacy of such fees was a valuable resource in lobbying for all municipalities to have this revenue source.

In 2013, the PSMA took a major step in support of legislation that would end Pennsylvania's ignominious distinction of being the only state in the United States of America that does not allow its municipal police to use radar to enforce the motor vehicle speed limits set by the legislature. Again with the help of Duquesne University, School of Law, and then Dean Kenneth Gormley (a former Mayor), the PSMA obtained the services of a law student to help make a case with the General Assembly for bringing Pennsylvania in line with all of the other states on this important subject. The law student undertook extensive research on the laws and practices of other states with regard to the use of radar by municipal police.

History

Relationships with Other Organizations

Throughout Pennsylvania, there are various organizations providing services to Mayors. Because of its size, breadth and independence, the PSMA is uniquely positioned to work with and assist all of these organizations. A number of county Mayors' associations have regarded the PSMA as their statewide affiliate. The Allegheny County Mayors' Association, the Chester County Mayors' Association, the Lackawanna County Mayors' Association, the Lancaster County Mayors' Association and the York County Mayors' Association are five such organizations. One PSMA Board member is the former president of the Pennsylvania Municipal League connecting the PSMA with that organization. Another member of the PSMA Executive Board was a member of the Board of Directors of the Association of the Mayors of the Boroughs of Pennsylvania giving the PSMA a link with that mayoral organization, as well. The PSMA is working to create stronger ties with all municipalities through its leadership and participation in the Radar Coalition.

Mayor of the Year

Frank Porco, Mayor, Borough of Forest Hills, Allegheny County

The 2025 Mayor of the Year

Frank Porco

Mayor, Borough of Forest Hills

Mayor Frank Porco is a lifelong resident of the Borough of Forest Hills in Allegheny County and has served the borough since 1998 when he was the youngest elected member of Council in its history, a position he held until 2014. Frank's term as Mayor began in 2018, overseeing an 11-officer police department, improving its operations by introducing the purchase of hybrid police vehicles to the public safety fleet, fully adopting the use of police body cameras, thereby making Forest Hills one of the first in Allegheny County to do so, and working with the Police Chief to update all police policies and procedures.

Mayor Porco's tenure has been marked by much more than improving the Forest Hills Police Department. In his role as the public face of the borough, Mayor Porco has instituted community activities to increase quality of life and civic pride. These activities and events include leading the borough's Centennial celebration in 2019 that included opening a time capsule from the 50th anniversary, a parade, fireworks and other events, creating and coordinating the annual winter holiday season "Light up the Hills" event that features dance and choral performances, tree lighting and refreshments, instituting summer events that include concerts in the park series featuring a variety of local bands and musical groups, and outdoor movie nights. Every year he leads a community-wide Memorial Day event. When the COVID-19 pandemic reduced opportunities to spend time together, Mayor Porco created and led the Christmas Festival of Lights Car Caravan Tour to allow residents to safely enjoy holiday decorations throughout the borough.

During his term as Mayor, Forest Hills Borough has received several awards including the American City & County Crown Community Recognition (2019) for its construction of a net-zero energy municipal building, a Pennsylvania Governor's Award for Environmental Excellence (2020) and from 2020-2022 has been named an Allegheny County Banner Community.

In his spare time, Mayor Porco has served his church as a member and president of its Pastoral Council, choir member, and parish festival volunteer and Chair since 2018. He has served the children of his community as a youth soccer coach and association board member and was a "constant presence" with the Stingrays Swim Team devoting countless hours over the span of more than a decade to the team and its families. When the Stingrays won their first-in-50-years Eastern Swim Association Division 1 Championship in 2024, Mayor Porco organized a borough-wide celebration including a parade, proclamations from State Representative Abigail Salisbury and Congressman Chris Deluzio, and local TV news coverage.

These many accomplishments inadequately represent the kind of man Mayor Porco brings to his leadership. It is his personal relationship with his community and its people that truly set him apart. He has "an unshakable belief in making life better for others." Mayor Porco "is so much more than a community leader. He is a mentor, a visionary and a quiet force behind countless acts of growth and service across Forest Hills." "Mayor Frank Porco embodies everything public service should be – humble, generous, and deeply rooted in the community." "He has helped build Forest Hills into a place people are proud to call home."
